D.O. No.F.9-7/2018 (CPP-II)

16 January 2024 / 26 पौष 1945

Respected Madam/Sir,

Your kind attention is invited to the UGC letters dated 15 July 2015, and 7 June 2019 (copies enclosed for ready reference), in which universities were requested to consider using ceremonial robes made out of handloom fabrics for special occasions such as convocation, etc. Apparel made from handloom fabrics is more comfortable in India's climate.

Taking the UGC's suggestion, many universities have already switched to handloom fabrics for ceremonial attire during their annual convocations. However, it is noted that some universities have still not changed their ceremonial dress code during the convocation. It is again requested that the Universities consider switching to handloom fabrics as ceremonial dress. The use of handloom fabrics would not only instil a sense of pride in being Indian but also promote the handloom industry in the country, which provides employment opportunities to many people living in rural areas.

Universities are also requested to share the action taken in this regard, along with photographs, videos, etc., on the UAMP portal at <https://uamp.ugc.ac.in>.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Manish Joshi)

Encl.: As stated above.

D.O. No. 3-2/2013(CPP-II)

15th July, 2015

'15' JUL 2015

Dear Sir / Madam,

The Hon'ble Prime Minister has emphasized on revival of handloom and improving earnings of the handloom weavers. Handloom fabric not only forms an integral part of our rich culture and heritage but also provides livelihood opportunity to lakhs of people living in the rural areas. Using ceremonial robes made out of handloom fabrics would not only give a sense of pride of being Indian but also be more comfortable in the hot and humid weather. Greater usage of handloom garments for apparel would promote the handloom industry in the country.

Accordingly, all the universities are requested to consider using handloom fabric for ceremonial dresses prescribed for special occasions like convocation etc. This may also be brought to the notice of the colleges affiliated to your university.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,
